
The Structure of the Book of Judges*

A – Prologue Part 1 (1:1-2:5)

1. The sons of Israel inquired of the LORD, saying, “Who shall go up first for us ...?” And the LORD said, “Judah shall go up” (1:1-2).
2. How Othniel gets his wife (1:11-15)
3. The Benjamites fail to drive out the Jebusites from Jerusalem (1:21).
4. At Bochim, Israel weeps before the angel of the LORD (2:1-5).

B – Prologue Part 2 (2:6-3:6) describes Israel’s spiritual degeneration from obeying their covenant with the LORD to worshipping Baal.

C – Othniel (3:7-11; cf. 1:11-15): His Israelite wife inspired him to drive out the Canaanites and acquired an inheritance from her father, resulting in a blessing.

D – Ehud (3:12-31) has a message for the king. With the Ephraimites, he takes the fords of the Jordan and kills the enemy.

E – Deborah (4:1-5-31): A woman ends the war by piercing the enemy commander’s skull with a tent peg.

F – Gideon (6:33-7:25): At first, Gideon takes a stand against idolatry and fights against the enemy. In the end, he fights against his own people and lapses into idolatry.

E’ – Abimelech (8:33-10:5): A woman ends the war by crushing Abimelech’s (the Israelite commander’s) skull with an upper millstone.

D’ – Jephthah (10:6-12:15) sends a message to the king, takes the fords of the Jordan, and kills his fellow Israelites.

C’ – Samson (13:1-16:31): His Gentile wives influenced him to live among the Philistines and persuaded him to reveal his secrets, leading to his undoing.

B’ – Epilogue Part 1 (17:1-18:31) describes an Israelite’s idolatrous cult and how Moses’ grandson became idolatrous priests for the tribe of Dan.

A’ – Epilogue Part 2 (19:1-25)

1. The sons of Israel ... inquired of God and said, “Who shall go up first for us ...?” Then the LORD said, “Judah shall go up first” (20:18).
2. How the survivors of Benjamin got their wives (21:1-25)
3. A Levite, avoiding Jebusites in Jerusalem, suffers a terrible outrage at the hands of the Benjamites (19:1-30).
4. At Bethel, Israel weeps before the LORD (20:26-28).

Bible Reading Plan and Prayer Guide

(Year TWO) February 2020

God works all things together for good. –Romans 8:28

Where Hope Lies

The Bible was written to be heard. It is organized so that a person listening to the text can follow the progression of events and ideas. Judges is a case in point. You’ll find a structural outline of the book on the back page. I hope it helps you follow the stories to the book’s main point.

The story of Gideon provides the centerpiece of Judges’ structure. By faith, he led Israel in a stunning triumph over their Midianite oppressors (6:25-8:12), but in the end he caused God’s people to fall back into idolatry (8:24-27). The stories that precede the Gideon account contain obvious similarities with those that follow it. These similarities create a concentric organization in the book that leads the reader—or listener—to compare the first half with the second.

Comparing the stories in the first half of the book with the corresponding stories in the second half highlights Israel’s drastic moral decline. Just as Gideon’s ultimate failure as a judge contrasts sharply with his initial success, Israel’s spiritual and political state in the second half of Judges are far worse than in the first half. In the end, Israel is as thoroughly idolatrous as the Canaanites they conquered.

Reading through the Bible, you’ve probably noticed that you spend two thirds of your time in the Old Testament. The historical narratives of the Old Testament demonstrate the great spiritual realities outlined in the New. As God unveils his redemptive plan through His chosen people, the wickedness of their heart reveals itself. But as the darkness of human nature unfolds, the awesome power of God’s grace shines all the brighter.

Israel’s sins lead to oppression. God sends judges to deliver them. Israel rejects God as their King. He provides David, a king after His own heart. David’s house falls into idolatry and captivity. Miraculously, God restores them after 70 years. Then, five centuries later, God sends His Son to offer His people the kingdom. He came to His own, and those who were His own did not receive Him (John 1:11).

The Old Testament demonstrates how humanity perverts everything God gives us and uses it against Him. But God uses our ultimate rejection at the cross to achieve His ultimate deliverance.

Awesome, isn’t He!
